Welcome to Atlanta! Roy Harker, Executive Director

Welcome to Atlanta, a forward looking city proud of its modern history, including the hosting of the 1996 Centennial Olympic Games, the birthplace of the Civil Rights Movement and its leader Martin Luther King, Jr., and the location of the 1978 founding of the Association of Gay and Lesbian Psychiatrists. Hotlanta, as it has come to be known, has much to offer in the way of a vibrant nightlife, sightseeing, cultural events, and glorious food. They are fond of their restaurants, as you will find out, and even with an abundance of great places to nosh, many become packed at peak times. In addition, they cherish their distinct neighborhoods, especially as the LGBT community continues to spread out over the entire city, championing revitalization efforts everywhere.

AGLPEditors@aglp.org

Kevin Donnelly-Boylen, M.D.

Gaddy Noy, D.O.

Hopefully everyone reading this has survived a tumultuous winter - here in Boston we managed to duck the worst of it, but we know it's been a taxing time for many of our readers. As we emerge from our hibernation, we are excited for all the programming AGLP has in store for the coming year. As we head into the spring and look forward to the annual APA meeting, we will be putting together our final newsletter prior to the APA in Atlanta. A formal schedule listing academic presentations, meetings, and social events will be included in our next issue. If you haven't already registered, sign up! It's shaping up to be a wonderful conference and an opportunity for our members to connect in person.

To help share with our community, we would love to hear from anyone who is participating in a non-AGLP sponsored event or presenting a poster so we can share this with our community. In a similar vein, we are eager to hear from members who are presenting at conferences and holding events, regardless of the topic (LGBTQ mental health or otherwise) - we cherish any opportunity to help members share the diverse interests within our community.

For medical student and resident members, please contact us if you would like to be more involved. Whether you are interested in representing your training level, participating in projects with other AGLP members, or connecting with career psychiatrists who share similar interests, we would love to hear from you and help facilitate your participation!

As we each take our next steps in our career, Gaddy to his third year of residency and Kevin to fellowship, we would both like to share the importance AGLP has played in our personal and professional development. For Kevin, this began in medical school, where he found support and encouragement; in residency, AGLP has helped him develop his own interests in LGBTQ and HIV psychiatry; it has also meant the opportunity to connect more closely with the organization, advocating for the community and developing what promise to be long relationships with other members. For Gaddy, AGLP has been an opportunity to find support, contribute to advocacy, and participate in a unique and important organization. This emphasizes the continued importance of AGLP going forward, with a new generation of rising psychiatrists just behind us. And to all our medical student members, we wish everyone the very best in the Match!

Do you have any feedback for us? Please feel free to contact us with suggestions and, as always, we encourage updates and submissions for the newsletter!

Please feel free to use us as an entry point if you have any interest in finding ways to participate or contribute to AGLP - our organization relies on YOU to make this such a special community.

President's Column

Eric Yarbrough, M.D.

EYarbrough@aglp.org

Eric Yarbrough, M.D.

I was watching the final episode of Downton Abbey last night. Series finales always seem a bit melodramatic, and I have to say this one seemed to tie up loose ends. One thing that bugged me (I won't be giving too much away here) is that love seemed to be in the air for all but one. The major characters were pairing off, with the glaring exception of the gay character. Of course - the classic representation of an evil, misunderstood, and bitter gay character was left alone. It's 2016 and yet some things still pervade.

This year, so far, has been anything but boring. I'll save my breath when it comes to political debate — no doubt it's part of the daily water cooler talk for all of you. We seem to be moving back in time instead of forward. National candidates are speaking with tones resonant of George Wallace or Joseph McCarthy. Isn't it nice to know that sentiments we thought were buried in our past find a way of popping back up? Who needs another zombie movie dominating the public's attention when we have politicians acting the living dead on screen for us daily?

We have world events happening that pertain to the work of AGLP. Indonesia has declared LGBTQ individuals as mentally ill. This move all in the name of preventing behavior seen as "unacceptable." Our board is currently working on a position statement and will be working with the larger APA to declare this group's sanity and to bring the psychiatrists of Indonesia into the 21st century.

In addition to foreign affairs, allow me the metaphor of the state of Georgia to represent our own backyard. Their state house bill 757 would have allowed Georgians to refuse services to LGBTQ people based on religious objections. I find it ironic that those who are most vocal about the Constitution often dismiss civil rights, ignoring the inherent separation of church and state. It is as if church and state are married, like a pair of first cousins. It is our duty to continue our advocacy for the LGBTQ community, and AGLP plans to do just that. Your continued support of our organization helps us to advocate for the rights of LGBTQ people around the world, including here in the United States. Without your membership, our continued efforts would prove impossible.

Bringing things full-circle, Downton Abbey ended with a quote from the Dowager Countess. She and Cousin Violet were discussing how it is tradition to ring in the New Year with optimism and hope. They debated whether we accept a predetermined future. It seems this year has the potential to reverse our progress and return us to the past. While the Dowager Countess was a fan of nostalgia and wished to return to days gone past, her final quote conveys the same sentiment that I feel now. In contemplating the acceptance of progress versus regression, she said "If only we had a choice." When it comes to our future, I believe we possess this choice and should take every effort to move us forward.

Vice-President's Column

Amir Ahuja, M.D.

AAhuja@aglp.org

Amir Ahuja, MD

As I have started a new job with the Los Angeles LGBT Center, I am seeing more patients from our community than ever before. This job reminds me on a daily basis of the many challenges that LGBT people face when dealing with mental health and with health care in general. It continues to inspire me to work harder for AGLP and to help spread our messages of tolerance and education to larger audiences.

This year will be a busy one in terms of educational efforts. As members of AGLP, many of us continue to present at various conferences all over the world. We are thrilled to be presenting symposia at various conferences including the following: the AADPRT meeting this spring, the European Psychiatric Association meeting in March, the Annual APA Meeting and annual PsychSign Meeting in May, the Institute of Psychiatric Services in October, and the World Psychiatric Association meeting in November. I hope that this demonstrates our ambitions to impart our knowledge to all providers who can use it to become more culturally competent for our patients. Our presence at a variety of professional meetings ensures that LGBT content is represented and not forgotten, as we are all keenly aware of how easy it is for our community to be invisible. It is up to all of us to be seen and heard, to combat this, and to make sure our needs are represented.

Of course, it is not enough to just show up and give a presentation. Hopefully, this is the beginning of a dialogue between us and members of the greater psychiatric and medical communities. I hope we excite LGBT doctors and allies to get more involved with AGLP and to lobby for LGBT rights at a local, state, federal, and international level.

We are also in the process of developing more educational initiatives, including educational DVDs and LGBT-competency courses that allow an even broader range of clinicians to benefit from our knowledge and experience. We hope these educational efforts, among many other initiatives that AGLP has developed, are as important to you as they are to us. As always, we appreciate your support and encourage you to support us in time, energy, and expertise, as well as financially.

The Journal of Gay and Lesbian Mental Health: An Update

Chris McIntosh, M.D.

Editors@aglp.org

We are pleased to present our first issue of JGLMH of 2016, which is a special issue on Pre-Exposure Prophylaxis (PrEP). PrEP is the provision of HIV treatment medications to HIV negative individuals at risk of infection.

In "PrEP: A review for mental health professionals", Luis Pereira, Simona Goschin and Kenn Ashley detail the studies that have shown that PrEP can be quite effective at blocking HIV transmission, when there is good adherence to the medication.

In "Psychological Issues and PrEP in Private Practice" David Goldenberg explores how the advent of PrEP has had an impact on gay male patients from different cohorts.

In "Self-Administered Screening for Syndemic Mental Health Problems Should be Routinely Implemented Among MSM PrEP Users," Darrell Tan, Adriana Carvalhal, and colleagues describe their findings of high psychiatric comorbidity in the client population referred to their Toronto-based PrEP clinic.

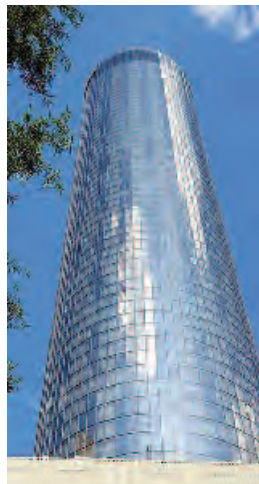

Please enjoy the issue and share the Free Access articles widely on social media to help promote the Journal. Remember, you can always access the full online journal through the AGLP website: www.aglp.org

Looking for Speakers on LGBTQ issues for international psychiatric meetings in Capetown Nov 18-22, 2016, Florence March 4-7, 2017 and Berlin October 8-12, 2017.

Unlike the APA meetings, many international psychiatric meetings do not have many sessions on LGBTQ issues, unless AGLP organizes them.

WPA International Meeting is a smaller WPA meeting done in between the triennial World Congress. The next WPA international meeting is in Cape Town 18-22 November, 2016. www.wpacapetown2016.org.za/ The deadline for submissions has been postponed to May 15, 2016. Please let us know by May 1st if you are interested in presenting.

The next European Psychiatric Association Meeting that we can submit to is for Florence March 4-7, 2017. The deadline is May 12, 2016. If you are interested in presenting on LGBTQ issues, please contact us by May 1, 2016. We need 4 speakers, and no more than two from the same country (This is the most challenging part finding 2 speakers from outside the US). www.epa-congress.org

Berlin World Congress of Psychiatry. The next World Congress of Psychiatry will be in conjunction with the following DGPNN (German Psychiatric Association annual meeting) from October 8-12, 2017. Deadline for speakers should be sometime in September 2016. www.wpaberlin2017.com This is the large conference the WPA organizes every 3 years.

Health Equity Conversation

You're invited to the third Diversity and Health Equity Conversation with American Psychiatric Association (APA) members to discuss diversity and inclusion. Changes in healthcare, patient demographics, APA leadership and membership make this an opportune time for you to help APA's Division of Diversity and Health Equity (DDHE) reimagine its goals and programming. The event will take place during the 169th Annual APA Meeting in Atlanta, Georgia.

Secretary's Column Sarah Noble, D.O.

SNoble@aglp.org

We have all heard the statistics that LGBT folks don't get preventive-care, and when they do access health care they're often experience discrimination. The obstetrics department at my hospital decided to establish special "pride" hours, staffed by lesbian practitioners and specially trained staff. In the few months since it's creation they've had twenty new patients; all of them had either never had a Pap smear or have not had one in over five years. Now I know for you guys this might not resonate, but this is basic preventative care that will pick up pre-cancerous cells. Often, lesbians aren't getting screened because they're afraid of that look or that comment they might get from their doctor or nurse when their providers find out they're gay. Sometimes there's even outright misinformation, and OBs's may think that lesbians don't need Pap smears.

I know that I may sound like a broken record, but I feel it's important to reiterate. We may have marriage equality, but years of inequality will take a while to fix. We each have stories of our patients or ourselves facing heteronormative or cisnormative biases. We can celebrate our accomplishments, but we can't just sit back and relax. The AGLP is here to advocate for the rights of our patients and ourselves, so please keep us informed of any topics you think are important.

Nick "Rocky" Gutierrez

Nick "Rocky" Gutierrez 1961 - 2016

It is with great sadness that we inform the AGLP membership about the untimely death of our friend and colleague Nick Gutierrez, who succumbed to complications of what was expected to be a routine surgery on February 10th, 2016.

Nick, known and loved by many in AGLP for decades, often attended and presented on AGLP organized panels at international psychiatry meetings. Nick worked as a geriatric psychiatrist at Didi Hirsch Mental Health Services in Los Angeles where he was affectionately known to staff as "Dr. G." Donations to Didi Hirsch in Nick's honor can be made by contacting Kim Kowsky, director of communications at kkowsky@didihirsch.org Nick was also a driving force in the creation of LGBT elder affordable housing, specifically Triangle Square in Hollywood. His warm smile and sense of humor will be greatly missed by all who knew him.

If you are attending the Annual Meeting in Atlanta and wish to get together with other friends of Nick please contact Chris McIntosh who will organize a time and place for an outing. cmcintosh@aglp.org
